I'd Give It All For You

Reference number PT0146

MAN

I had a house while you were gone.
The week after you left me,
I found a couple of acres near Severna Park.
I had a house while you were gone:
A house with silver shutters,
and a driveway laid in marble,
and thousands of rooms to fill,
and miles of space to fly...
and I tried to believe it.
It was better without you,
I was safer alone...

No, I'd give it all for you,
I'd give it all for you by my side once more.
Oh, I'd give it all for you.
I'd give it all to hold you again,
to feel I'm completed,
to know there and then
that all I needed was you to fight the fear...
And now you're here.

WOMAN

I took a trip while I was gone.

I cashed in all my savings
and bought an Eldorado, drove to Tennessee.

I took a trip while I was gone.

I drove across the country
and stopped at lots of diners
and stared at a million stars,
and thought I could touch the sky...

And I tried to believe it.

It was better without you.

I was finally free...

No, I'd give it all for you.

I'd give it all for you by my side once more.

Oh, I'd give it all for you.

I'd give it 'cause the mountains I climb get higher and higher.

I'm running from time
and walking through fire,
and dreams just don't come true...

But now there's you.

MAN

God knows it's easy to hide.

Easy to hide from the things that you feel,
and harder to blindly trust what you don't understand.

WOMAN

God knows it's easy to run.

Easy to run from the people you love,
and harder to stand and fight for the things you believe.

TOGETHER

Nothing about us was perfect or clear,
but when Paradise calls me I'd rather be here.

There's something between us that nobody else needs to see...

WOMAN

There were oceans to cross...

MAN

There were mountains to conquer

And I stood on the shore...

MAN

And I stood on the cliff.

TOGETHER

And the second before I jumped,
I knew where I needed to be!

Oh, I gave it all for you,
I gave it all for you by my side once more.

Oh, I gave it all for you,
I gave it 'cause it's harder to touch
the things that are dearer.

I love you too much
to trust something clearer.

I know I fell too far...

But, here you are...
