What About Today?

Reference number PT0664

The tears I'm shedding now I hear will dry in time.
The fears I'm fearing now I hear will die in time.
But while I wait around for tomorrow, watching life drift away,
What about, yes,
What about today?

I know if I just wait the sun will shine someday.
And when it does the weather will be fine someday.
But while the skies I search for tomorrow, stay that shade of gray,
What about, yes,
What about today?

'Til Nirvannah comes,
What about today?
'Til Messiah comes,
What about today?
'Til the mountains move and oceans part
and angels sing and life can start,
What about, yes,
What about today?

And what's my life been lived for if it never comes?
I've heard a lot of toasts tomorrow, but none of them ever say;
What about today?
What about today?
What about, yes,
What about today?
