Here Come The Dreamers

Reference number PT0753

Please hang a moon up and tune up the cellos for here come the dreamers.

Tell all the fellows to varnish their trumpets,
Butter the crumpets and garnish the Jell-Os,
Let us get to it and do it up right,
Welcome the dreamers with all of our might.

Here come a few of the true punchinellos, the beautiful dreamers.

Here comes a clown in a motley of yellows
Made from a gown of Dolores Costello's,
Giddy and gaudy and bawdy and bright,
Here come the dreamers to light up the night.

They may arrive in a sleigh
Or the ghost of a gaily painted steamboat, dreamboat.

What does it matter who scatters confetti or strings up the streamers,
Cover the table with strawberry satin,
Put out the platinum sugar and creamers,
Tell ev'ry sorrow to slip out of sight,
Here come the dreamers to put them to flight.
