It Would Never Have Worked

Reference number PT0920

It's over you've missed the bus
A nice idea but not for us
We didn't click
Let's make it quick and say goodbye
Don't hold my hand, and don't demand a reason why
No loving looks, no fond regards
Tonight was always on the cards.

I like big muscles, you were thin and lanky
I like nice manners, you were far too cranky
You blew your nose and then looked in the hanky
It would never have worked.

The day I met you was a real heart wrencher
I thought that love would be a big adventure
Then I saw spinach on your bottom denture
It would never have worked.

I wanted champagne and oysters 'cos that's the way I am
You gave me Vimto, tinned carrots and spam.

Rapport's a thing you just can't manufacture
You had your pin-up girl,
I couldn't match here
I didn't want to, it was Missus Thatcher
It would never have worked.

I wanted love to come and knock our blocks off
But even Venus takes her card and clocks off
Your idea of foreplay was to take your socks off
It would never have worked.

I wanted moonlight and roses and all that silly tosh
You wanted gerbils, a whippet, a wash.

I wanted love poems but you couldn't write them
My earlobes nibbled but you wouldn't bite them
You'd only fart and then attempt to light them
It would never have worked.

We're not compatible, let's not get blue dear
At least we see each other's point of view dear
I like big hanky men and so do you dear
It would never have worked.
