

www.practicetracks.co.uk

Brand New Eyes

Reference number PT0939

To make a contribution that's uniquely mine
I have to go beyond the things I see.
To find the right solution, complete a new design, gotta tilt the angle differently.

A little splash of yellow makes a brand new sun, a dot of indigo can be the skies,
a smudge of cream creates an effervescent cloud,
if you're seeing with new eyes.

A ripple on the edge can be a tidal wave no matter what the size.
Anything can be, depending how you see
if you're looking at your world with brand new eyes.

A wall of brick that's in your way will never move, you'll stand there dominated by the size but you can see the tiny crack to make it fall
if you're seeing with new eyes.

Or maybe find a piece of woven rope to climb and find a way to rise.
Anything can be, depending how you see if you're seeing with new eyes, brand new eyes.

The seasons quickly alter, soon autumn comes to call complete with darker shades of mauve and brown.
Perspective starts to falter, you run into a wall till you turn your vision upside down.

A drenching doesn't have to be a dreadful thing, what if it was a present from the skies?
You'll be surprised at how you see the oddest things
if you're seeing with new eyes.

A muddy puddle isn't just a soggy mess, depends what you devise,
let it be a moat and sail a proper boat when you're looking at your world with brand new eyes.

The ripest apple may not have the polished skin but still it satisfies with ev'ry bite, you never know until you try the taste yourself, agree?

Don't judge yourself by what you see in others' eyes, they never look as deeply as you can,
who knows what riches wait just underneath the part they see when you're free.

the fears you've squashed down for so long come springing out, you fin'lly give them room to exercise.
Accept whatever you've denied and pretty soon, you're seeing with new eyes, and when you find the demons that you've tried to hide,
get set for a surprise, what you thought you were is not how you occur
if you're looking at your world with brand new eyes, brand new eyes.